COMMUTERS ARE ANGERED BY NEW RULE AT STATION

Ashland Residents Appeal to Director Hines to Open Gates Earlier.

In a letter to Walker D. Hines, Director-General of Railways, yesterday, passengers of the evening commuter train to Ashland, Va., have registered a complaint against their treatment by railway officials here.

It is stated that the trouble originated when officials at the Broad Street Union Station issued an order which prohibited commuters from boarding their train before 6:15 o'clock in the evening on their way to their homes in Ashland.

For years, it is said, to read, business men in Richmond who reside in Ashland boarded the train at the Elba Station from work and waited for train time in comfort.

Since the changing of stations they claim they have continued to wait at the Elba Station, but the change has been made to Broad Street Union Station. Many of the commuters have ridden on the train to and from Ashland for so long that they have favored the station which they occupy night and night out for the year on end and which their neighbors respect, by leaving vacant until they arrive.

But now an order has been issued keeping all persons from the train until 6:15 o'clock. At that time, according to the commuters' letter to the director-general of railways, a large crowd has assembled which makes it inconvenient and they are compelled to wait in the crowded and uncomfortable station for long periods until the gates are opened when they might as well be comfortable in the train. The letter further states that station officials gave the commuters to understand that if they did not like the new ruling they could "jump it." Hence the appeal has been made direct to Director Hines.

FEDERAL TROOPS READY TO SUPPRESS DISORDERS

Secretary Baker Says Nation Will Not Tolerate Any Fanatic Program.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, addressing the delegates to the convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs tonight, referring to the agitation and unrest in this country since the signing of the armistice, said the situation in Washington is determined by Federal laws to be enforced and Federal troops will respond instantly to the call of any Governor to suppress riots and disorder in any State.

After referring to the disturbed conditions in various countries of the world, Secretary Baker said: "In our own country since the armistice there has been growing agitation and unrest, manifesting itself sometimes in race riots and mob disorder, but for the most part evidenced by widespread industrial controversies. Our newspapers are daily filled with accounts of violent agitation by so-called Bolsheviks and radicals, coupled with violence and urging action in behalf of what they call social revolution."

The American people will not exchange the solid foundations of their social order for any of these fantastic theories. The relations of labor and capital are now being seriously considered in Washington by a group of representatives of the various interests and of the public, assembled by the President, and we can look with confidence to a spirit of justice and mature deliberation upon these grave problems from that body."
